Explanations about FATCA | Legal entities

This form is a simplification of the US Internal Revenue Service (IRS) original form for legal entities, the W-8BEN-E that always can be used instead.

Financial institutions outside the FATCA partner countries (see below definition of FATCA partner country) should, where appropriate, sign the American original Form W-8BEN-E.

Legal residents of the United States, that are subject to tax there because of management, incorporation or any other similar circumstance, should instead sign the American original Form W-9

What is FATCA?

FATCA, short for Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, is a relatively new regulation aiming to prevent tax evasion. Each country must sign the FACTA agreement in order for it to apply in the country. Countries and financial institutions that do not sign the agreement risk to pay 30% taxes on payments from the US. The Swedish-American FATCA Agreement was signed August 8, 2014 and entered into force on 1 April 2015. The agreement is reciprocal, which means that the IRS will have access to information about US citizens' capital assets and revenue managed by or paid to the Swedish financial entities. Similarly, the Swedish Tax Agency to obtain information about the Swedish citizens assets and revenue managed by or paid to the US financial entities

Who is liable in USA?

Person who is liable to pay taxes in the United States is mentioned in the Swedish legislation as American person, the so-called US person. This concept includes people who have US citizenship (including those who have dual citizenship), regardless of where they reside, and which would otherwise have been tax resident in the United States; such as by settlement and / or holders of American residence and work (called Green Card). Those who are taxable in the United States are also required to declare tax in United States. Sweden has entered into a tax treaty with the United States to eliminate the risk of having to pay taxes in both Sweden and the US. Declaration obligation consists, however, in spite of the tax treaty. Special rules apply to those who did renounce their US citizenship or was previously a Green Card holder.

Relevant legislation

- Act (2015:62) on identification of reportable accounts of FATCA agreement
- Changes in SFS 2015:69
- Act (2015:63) on the exchange of information on the occasion of FATCA Agreement.

Definitions

FATCA – partner countries

FATCA – partner country is a country that signed an agreement with the US on the exchange of information under FATCA legislation. Participating Countries can be seen in a list published on the US Treasury website.

Financial unit

A financial entity is a depository, investment institutions and certain insurance companies. An entity is also a financial entity if the part of its business, or if it is managed by another entity in its business, carries one or more of the following activities on behalf of clients

- Take deposits in the ordinary course of business as a credit institution or similar activities
- Dealing in securities or other financial instruments
